HERE IS WHAT MOST INTERESTS ME IN TEA...

Tea and herbal botanicals are truly remarkable — natural, healthy, and sustainable products that have the power to bring joy and well-being to people around the world. Here in Australia, we're fortunate to have our own unique native plants. Although these have been used by Indigenous communities for thousands of years and are renowned for their exceptional organoleptic qualities, they are only now beginning to gain recognition globally.

After many years working in the global flavour and natural extracts industry, I enjoy the connection to the earth — and to the global tea community — that my work with Australian Native Products has brought me. It's a joy to share the knowledge and benefits of our incredible native botanicals, especially the vibrant, great-tasting blends made with Australian Lemon Myrtle and Anise Myrtle.

I'd love to connect and hear from fellow tea and botanical enthusiasts. Please don't hesitate to reach out and say hello.

Warm regards,
Andrew
